

The Health Dept.

In your bodily system is looked after by millions of little soldiers in your blood—those corpuscles constantly fighting for you.

If this army is well fed and kept healthy and strong, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, it will destroy the uncountable horde of germ-organisms that are attacking you every moment of your life. Hood's Sarsaparilla will keep you free from all such ailments as eczema, rheumatism, catarrh, anemia, that tired feeling and all such ailments.

FARMERS MIGHT RULE IF THEY ONLY WOULD

So Secretary Wilson Declares on Getting Degree of LL. D. from McGill University.

Montreal, June 5.—At Thursday's special convocation of the governors of McGill university at Macdonald college, its new school of agriculture, the degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon James Wilson, the United States secretary of agriculture. Dr. James Earl Russell, dean of the Teachers' college of Columbia university, and several Canadians, in an address Secretary Wilson said:

"Half the people under your flag and ours till the soil for a livelihood. They are not the governing class in either country, while they hold the balance of power at the ballot box.

"It is their duty to prepare to use power with conservatism and intelligence.

"Many new things are proposed with regard to government nowadays that require cool heads to consider, to adopt or to reject. The street corner and the saloon are not safe forums as the farmer's fireside when public questions are acute.

"The coming millions that will find homes on this hemisphere will look to agriculture to feed and clothe them. Manufacturing industries will expect to be fed cheaply. Consumers will look to the soil for traffic. The banker will look to the fields to give life to enterprise and maintain the balance of trade, and the educated farmer will be the well spring of all these movements."

"SCIENCE" KILLS D. A. R. WOMAN, SAYS DOCTOR

Mrs. Stephen F. Fisk, Alleged Victim of Healing Cult, Dies After Delayed Operation.

Pawtucket, R. I., June 5.—Christian Science, in the opinion of her doctors, caused the death in this city Thursday of Mrs. Stephen F. Fisk, state vice-regent of the Daughters of the Revolution. Despite the desire of the Fisk family to keep the cause of death secret, Dr. James L. Wharton, the family doctor, gave out a signed statement Thursday afternoon as follows:

"In explanation of the causes of death of Mrs. Susan F. Fisk, who was operated upon March 24, 1909, by Dr. W. H. Conant of Boston, for two large cysts. The operation was successful. She had been under the treatment of Christian Scientists for nine months, and for this reason was in poor condition. The operation was put off until it was too late, the delay having rendered the organs of digestion so inactive that they could not longer perform their proper functions, and she died from actual starvation. Had the operation been done earlier she would be living to-day. This is the opinion of the attending physicians."

Mrs. Fisk was the wife of a prominent druggist and was a member of many women's clubs. She had been regent of the local chapter of the D. A. R., and upon the retirement of her husband conducted the drug business. They occupied one of the handsomest residences here, and were considered well to do until last week, when Mr. Fisk assigned all of his property to Col. Lyman B. Goff. Mrs. Fisk was warned a year ago that an operation was imperative, but consulted Boston "Scientists" concerning her malady. After her return from Washington this spring her condition became alarming.

MISS LAWSON TO WED.

Second Daughter of Thomas W. Engaged to J. F. Lord of Chicago.

Boston, June 5.—Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Marion Lawson, second oldest daughter of Thomas W. Lawson, to James Fuller Lord of Chicago.

Miss Lawson returned Wednesday to her father's magnificent home, Dreamworld, at Scituate, from a trip through Maine and at dinner informed the family of her engagement. The wedding has been set for June 30.

This engagement meets with the hearty approval of the family. Both the young people are lovers of horses and clever riders. Mr. Lord is a member of a number of hunting and riding clubs about Chicago, and it was on a visit to that city, in which Miss Marion took part in a run of one of the clubs, that she first met her future husband.

Miss Lawson, who is a pronounced brunette, is prominent in the younger social set of Boston.

GIVES KING A DIPLODOCUS.

Carnegie Orders Replica Made for Italian Monarch.

Pittsburg, June 5.—"Make a replica of Diplodocus and fetch over to King Victor Emmanuel; he's a good fellow," was the gist of a cablegram received yesterday by Director Holland of the Carnegie museum, from Andrew Carnegie, who has just been entertained by the king of Italy.

Director Holland began the work yesterday and said the great plaster model will be completed July 15. Dr. Holland received a supplementary cablegram yesterday that he must go to Rome with the Diplodocus and see that it is set up properly for the king. It will be placed in the Jardines des Plantes de la Roma, and it was said there will be a great celebration in Rome the day it is delivered.

LOOSE GAME WON BY I. A. C.

Defeated Goddard Seminary, 6 to 4, Yesterday

MANY FIELDING ERRORS

Capt. Shina of Goddard Went Into the Box and Was Not a Howling Success. Two Other Substitutes on the Seminary Team.

The Italian Athletic club nine won from the Goddard seminary team at the Rangers grounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 4. Goddard was short three of its regular players, Smith, Scampini and Spaulding, and had to run in three substitutes, while to fill up the gap in the pitching staff Capt. Shina went into the box and pitched seven and a half innings. In that time he was touched up for ten singles that usually came in bunches of three in an inning, while he also had difficulty in locating the plate and passed seven men. After he had two down in the eighth and had passed three men, he called Moore into the box, who struck out the first man up.

Richardson, two substitutes, Cooley and Richardson, did good work. The former making two assists and a putout in the sixth inning and pounding out a two-bagger in the fourth, and the latter, though he did not get a safe hit, plunked the ball three times and was robbed of a safe hit twice. In the seventh he made his team's last score of the game.

The Italians played a loose game in the field, being chalked up with six errors. Nicora scored for the Italians in the first inning. He had singled and Gabelloni followed with a safe one into center field. Nicora attempted to make third on the hit and White in fielding the ball hit Nicora in the back and he scored before the ball could be recovered.

In the third Boynton binged out a two-bagger that scored Wishart and Berry and in the next inning Cooley hit into left field for two sacks and scored from third on David's throw to second to catch Richardson. Malerini muffed the throw. The Italians did not score again after the first until the fifth inning, when Smith's arm began to weaken and he was hit freely. The score:

I. A. C.		ab	r	b	po	a	e
David, c	3	1	2	6	2	0
Cella, s	4	0	0	0	2	3
Nicora, c	5	3	3	1	0	0
Gabelloni, p	4	0	3	2	1	0
Calagani, b	4	1	0	0	1	0
P. Colombo, l. f.	2	1	0	4	0	1
Malerini, 3 b	1	0	4	3	1	0
Broggi, c	3	0	1	2	0	0
H. Colombo, r. f.	4	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	30	6	0	27	9	6

Goddard		ab	r	b	po	a	e
Shina, p	5	0	0	0	3	0
Wishart, 3 b	3	1	2	1	0	0
Berry, s	4	1	1	0	0	0
Boynton, c	4	0	1	4	1	0
Lee, 2 b	3	0	0	5	2	0
Moore, l. b	4	0	0	1	0	0
Cooley, r. f.	4	1	1	3	1	0
White, c	4	0	0	0	0	0
Richardson, l. f.	4	1	0	1	0	0
Totals	37	4	5	24	11	1

Imaging..... 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
I. A. C..... 1 0 0 0 1 1 2 1 — 6
Goddard..... 0 0 2 1 0 0 1 0 0 — 1

Two-base hits, Boynton, Cooley; sacrifice hits, Cella; stolen bases, Gabelloni 5; Shina 3; Moore 1; bases on balls, off Gabelloni, Shina 7; wild pitch, Shina; double plays, Wishart to Moore, Cooley to Moore; umpire, Keefe; time, 1h. 35 m.

YESTERDAY'S AMERICAN LEAGUE SCORES.

At Boston, Detroit 3, Boston 0.
All other American league games postponed.
(No National league scores: rain.)

AMERICAN LEAGUE STANDING.

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Detroit	27	13	.675
Philadelphia	23	16	.590
New York	21	15	.583
St. Louis	19	19	.500
St. Louis	17	21	.447
Cleveland	16	22	.421
Chicago	16	22	.421
Washington	12	25	.324

BOWDOIN VICTORY TIES MAINE'S FOUR BALL TEAMS.

Intercollegiate Championship Cannot be Settled This Year.

Brunswick, Me., June 5.—Bowdoin defeated Bates 8 to 6 in the final game of the Maine intercollegiate baseball series here yesterday. All four of the colleges participating in the series, Bowdoin, Bates, Colby and the university of Maine, are tied for first place.

Western Reaches Lookout.

Laramie, Wyo., June 5.—Edward Payson Weston, the pedestrian, in apparent good health, reached Lookout, twenty-seven miles west of Laramie, at 8:40 o'clock this morning.

SUMMER THEATRE DESTROYED.

That of Norumbega Park Burned With Loss of $38,000.

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna acts gently yet promptly on the bowels, cleanses the system effectually, assists one in overcoming habitual constipation permanently. To get its beneficial effects buy the genuine.

Manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SOLD BY LEADING DRUGGISTS—50¢ per BOTTLE

AMERICA IN THE CONGO

Co-operation With England Is Urged

AGREEMENT BE WELCOME

Births Increase in 1908 in France—They Exceeded the Number of the Deaths by 46,441.

London, June 5.—Urged by Sir Francis Channing to "obtain full working co-operation with the United States in pressing for reform of the Congo abuses," Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey, in a written reply, has said:

"We welcome an agreement with the government of the United States. They have been and will continue to be kept informed of the views of his majesty's government."

FRENCH BIRTHS INCREASE.

Excess Over Deaths of 46,441 for the Year 1908.

Paris, June 5.—The vital statistics of France, which in 1907 showed an excess of 10,892 deaths over the births for that year, a fact that led to the most pessimistic predictions for the future of the French race, have now been published for 1908. Their study brings to light more reassuring official figures and shows an excess of 46,441 births over the deaths for that year. The total of deaths decreased 48,256 in 1908, while the births increased 18,067.

INSURANCE MEN INDICTED.

Result of Raising Rates in Rochester, N. Y.

Rochester, N. Y., June 5.—The May grand jury of Monroe county yesterday reported six sealed indictments against fire insurance men, all local agents, owing to the action of the state board of fire insurance underwriters in recently raising rates in this city, but putting what is called "pink slip" notices on insurance companies as a long resolution. This says that many cases of incendiarism are due to the fact that many policies are granted without any previous investigation of household or personal property of the person desiring the insurance. In fact, the policy of over-insuring causes incendiarism attempts, and the way companies take fire risks breeds to fires. The companies themselves are to blame for "waves of incendiarism," the report adds. The report says that action compelling fire insurance to only insure for value should be taken, and that some plan must be devised to regulate the manner of business of the companies. Those indicted are James Johnson, former candidate for mayor of the city; Alderman Robert S. Taylor, Henry P. Webb, James P. Clements, Gilbert E. Amenden and Martin E. Wolf, manager of the Lyceum theatre. All are representatives of leading fire insurance companies. The indictments allege conspiracy.

PATRICK LOSES HIS LAST HOPE.

Appellate Division Holds Life Sentence Legal—Novel Pleas of Murderer.

New York, June 5.—Albert T. Patrick's appeal for liberty or death was denied by the appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn yesterday.

Patrick had appealed to that court for a hearing on writ of habeas corpus which he had obtained from an individual justice of the supreme court, ordering the prosecuting officers to show cause why he should not be released from prison or put to death for the murder of William Marsh Rice.

In support of the writ Patrick several weeks ago made a sensational personal appeal to the appellate division in which he declared that the commutation of his death sentence to that of life imprisonment by Governor Higgins constituted the imposition of a sentence worse than death. Patrick also attacked the legality of his conviction on the ground of conspiracy.

All the justices of the appellate division yesterday concurred in dismissing the writ of habeas corpus. The court sustained the judgment of conviction and the commutation of his sentence to that of life imprisonment, and ordered Patrick to be remanded to Sing Sing prison.

SHAKE INTO YOUR SHOES

Allen's Foot-Powder, a powder. Relieves painful smarting, itching feet and cures the itching, and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Powder makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous, swollen, tired, aching feet. Try it today. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. By mail for 10c in stamps. Don't accept any substitutes. The Allen Manufacturing Co., Lowell, Mass. Allen & Unwin, Ltd., London, E. C.

PENROSE PAYS THE FIDDLER

Danced all Over La Follette in the Latter's Absence

LA FOLLETTE "GOT SQUARE"

No Man, He Declared, Could Account for Penrose's Absence Without Transgressing the Rules.

Washington, June 5.—With no opposition, the Senate yesterday adopted Mr. LaFollette's resolution calling on the president to send to the senate the correspondence of the state department and the German government or its representatives relating to the German report on wages.

No one was requested to call for a quorum when the Senate met yesterday, nearly every senator being in his place. Contrary to the general expectation, the opening scene when Mr. LaFollette took the floor was quite peaceful.

Mr. LaFollette and Mr. Gallinger had a friendly exchange of words relating to the refusal of the Wisconsin senator to yield to the New Hampshire senator for a question yesterday.

Mr. LaFollette called attention to the fact that there were other senators who might have spoken last night, including Mr. Aldrich, who had promised an explanation of the action schedule. Turning toward Mr. Aldrich, Senator LaFollette remarked that that senator "stood upon this floor as any other senator."

"He forgets it sometimes," he added. Then referring to the session of last evening as "sensational" to such an extent as to obscure the debate of the day, which had preceded, he turned to Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, who sat in his place on the opposite side of the chamber facing him.

"As to the remarks of the senator from Pennsylvania," he said, "I would suggest that he would render a very important service to the country and to his state if he would account for the way he spends his time when absent from this body than in any effort to make an account for my time."

Leaving forward, Mr. Penrose gave close attention to the senator from Wisconsin. The possibility of a severe clash between the two senators caused their colleagues to shift their eyes from one to the other. The galleries were crowded and the stillness seemed to prelude on the part of the audience that a scene was to be enacted.

"I might add," continued the senator from Wisconsin, "that no man could undertake to account for the whereabouts of the senator from Pennsylvania without transgressing the rules of the Senate and I do not."

Mr. Penrose, interrupting, referred to an article in a magazine published by the Senator from Wisconsin as misrepresenting himself and Pennsylvania. Reading the article complained of, Mr. Penrose was promptly answered by Mr. LaFollette who said the statements were taken from a newspaper and when denied by that publication were promptly withdrawn by his own magazine.

Mr. Penrose asked to be referred to the denial and was assured that he would be furnished with the magazine containing it.

Mr. LaFollette then proceeded with his analysis of the tariff bill.

OLD MEN ARE DOING REAL TARIFF WORK

That is an Interesting Feature of the Legislation Which is Now Being Conducted in Washington.

Washington, D. C., June 5.—An interesting feature of the tariff legislation now being conducted in Washington is the fact that old men, most of them beyond the age when men are retired from the army and navy and by great employers for incapacity due to their years are doing the real work.

They have the sagacity in management, the grasp of a thousand details and the strength to withstand a crushing burden of work, that is usually associated with men of only half their age.

The record that has been made by these patriots enables veterans generally to point with pride to the achievements of their kind and make a joke of Oldism.

In the House the strongest influence was wielded by "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and by Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee. Uncle Joe was pioneering in Indiana and felling with the mighty blows of his axe the walnut monarchs of the forest when the protective tariff, a mere infant, had barely begun to wither under a crushing burden of work, that is usually associated with men of only half their age.

The record that has been made by these patriots enables veterans generally to point with pride to the achievements of their kind and make a joke of Oldism.

In the House the strongest influence was wielded by "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and by Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee. Uncle Joe was pioneering in Indiana and felling with the mighty blows of his axe the walnut monarchs of the forest when the protective tariff, a mere infant, had barely begun to wither under a crushing burden of work, that is usually associated with men of only half their age.

The record that has been made by these patriots enables veterans generally to point with pride to the achievements of their kind and make a joke of Oldism.

In the House the strongest influence was wielded by "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and by Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee. Uncle Joe was pioneering in Indiana and felling with the mighty blows of his axe the walnut monarchs of the forest when the protective tariff, a mere infant, had barely begun to wither under a crushing burden of work, that is usually associated with men of only half their age.

The record that has been made by these patriots enables veterans generally to point with pride to the achievements of their kind and make a joke of Oldism.

In the House the strongest influence was wielded by "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and by Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee. Uncle Joe was pioneering in Indiana and felling with the mighty blows of his axe the walnut monarchs of the forest when the protective tariff, a mere infant, had barely begun to wither under a crushing burden of work, that is usually associated with men of only half their age.

The record that has been made by these patriots enables veterans generally to point with pride to the achievements of their kind and make a joke of Oldism.

In the House the strongest influence was wielded by "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and by Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee. Uncle Joe was pioneering in Indiana and felling with the mighty blows of his axe the walnut monarchs of the forest when the protective tariff, a mere infant, had barely begun to wither under a crushing burden of work, that is usually associated with men of only half their age.

The record that has been made by these patriots enables veterans generally to point with pride to the achievements of their kind and make a joke of Oldism.

In the House the strongest influence was wielded by "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and by Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee. Uncle Joe was pioneering in Indiana and felling with the mighty blows of his axe the walnut monarchs of the forest when the protective tariff, a mere infant, had barely begun to wither under a crushing burden of work, that is usually associated with men of only half their age.

The record that has been made by these patriots enables veterans generally to point with pride to the achievements of their kind and make a joke of Oldism.

In the House the strongest influence was wielded by "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and by Seneca E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee. Uncle Joe was pioneering in Indiana and felling with the mighty blows of his axe the walnut monarchs of the forest when the protective tariff, a mere infant, had barely begun to wither under a crushing burden of work, that is usually associated with men of only half their age.

Exclusive New York Custom Styles

If you go to New York or any other metropolitan center, you will find the best-dressed men wearing the same Regal Shoe styles we have on sale right here in our store.

REGAL SHOES

are famous all over the world for their exclusive custom style and quality. The new models embody every fashion-feature found in the most expensive custom footwear. Moreover, Regals fit like made-to-measure shoes, because they are made in quarter-sizes. Come in and look over the new Regal styles.

$350 $400 and $500

Moore & Owens,

122 North Main Street, Barre, Vermont

was the making of a two days' speech when he submitted the creation of his labors to the House.

It is conceded that in the Senate, Aldrich is the dominant influence so far as the tariff and most other things are concerned. He is 65 years old, and Senator Hale of Maine, who is his chief assistant, has lived 73 years. Julius Caesar Burrows, of Michigan, a leading member of the finance committee, which prepared the bill, is 72 years of age. Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, who is one of the most lusty opponents of the measure, is 60. There are several other senators of a ripe old age who have not been so active in the work on the bill, but who can be depended upon by Aldrich to wield a strong influence if he needs their help.

The bill includes Senators Shelby H. Cullom of Illinois, aged 80 years; William P. Frye of Maine, 75; Chauncey H. Depew of New York, 75; and William Warner, who, despite his 69 years, is an alert representative of Missouri in the Senate.

Why do barbers talk so much? Senator Dooliver, of Iowa, thinks he has discovered the reason. It is nothing more or less than the physiological effect of the razor.

"For generations this phenomenon of the barber's loquacity," said he the other day, "observed in all countries and in every stratum of society, has been a theme for wonder and study. I have solved the problem. For three days the Senate has been talking over the razor schedule in the tariff bill. Think of that—three days! There must be something about the razor that necessarily causes conversation. It isn't the barber's fault. We have seen that Senators and seers are just as prone to fall under its conversational spell as is the man who shaves us or cuts our hair. We should never again blame the barber."

During this debate one Southern Senator confessed that he had at one time used a razor that cost him only 25 cents. Which reminded one of his colleagues of the story of a colored gentleman who brought home a safety razor and proudly exhibited it to his wife. When she had examined its method of operation, she shook her head and said:

"Rastus, dat may be a good 'nough razor to cut de whiskers, but Ah hab mah doubts 'bout it bein' 'dapted to social purposes."

Mrs. Taft recently gave a big afternoon party to the wives of notable and one of her guests was the consort of a congressman from the Pacific coast. She is a smiling, clever little woman with the freshness and independence characteristic of the West. In the course of the evening, President Taft, in his very best humor, came to the East room to meet the friends of Mrs. Taft. He met Mrs. Pacific coast. They had a little chat which led the President to remark that he had not met the lady's husband.

"Yes, and that is not all. Mr. President," she said with a smile, "You are not going to meet him."

"How do you explain that?" queried the chief executive.

"Well, he called at the executive office, waited four hours and even then was unable to see you. He said he would never see you there again."

"What else did he say?" asked the president.

"If you demand a strictly truthful answer, Mr. President," she said, as her eyes sparkled, "I must tell you that he said you could 'go to hell.'"

The President laughed heartily and requested her to tell her husband he wished to see him next day. The congressman did call next day and, thanks to his wife, now maintains pleasant relations with the White House instead of the fuel he had evolved as the result of his four-hour wait.

Attorney General Wickersham's friends are still joking him about what would have been an unpardonable breach of the etiquette of the highest court in the land, had it been committed by anyone else than the head of the department of justice of the United States.

Mr. Wickersham actually appeared before the supreme court the other day in a light-colored suit of clothes. It was an ordinary business suit such as men might wear to his office on a warm summer day. But no one had ever before been allowed to appear in the supreme court room dressed in any other than dark clothing.

The attorney general had been very busy at his office. He had formed his summer suit that morning as a matter of course and it did not occur to him until he reached the Capitol that he was not attired according to the unwritten law of the great tribunal.

The doorkeeper, whose chief duty is to keep "flashily-dressed" persons out of the court room, winced when Mr. Wickersham passed the door. The attorneys in the room looked at him against. Thin his assistant attorney general, Wade Ellis, mentioned the matter to him. But nothing could be done. The hour for holding court had arrived, and the presence of attorney general was imperative. The matter was explained to the justices before they entered the court room and they overlooked the attorney general's offense. But Mr. Wickersham was manifestly uncomfortable throughout the session.

The supreme court is very insistent that no one shall appear before it in any garb that might possibly be construed as showing lack of respect for the black-robed justices.

Several years ago, a United States reporter who was not regularly assigned to the supreme court, was sent there by the Washington bureau to take the place of the regular court man, who was ill. The reporter had been "covering" various executive departments of the government and used a bicycle to enable him to get from place to place quickly. When court time arrived, he peddled up to the Capitol dressed in his knickerbockers.

The doorkeeper was shocked. No amount of persuasion or explanations by the astonished reporter could gain him entrance to the court room. Finally, through a special arrangement with the marshal, he was allowed to sit in a small ante-room where he could hear the proceedings but where his offending garb would be out of sight.

The passing of the American Indian as a government ward—or special problem of the population of the United States—is being rapidly accomplished through Superintendent